Custodial Parent Enforcement Review Letter- Responding Cases

The Division of Child Support Services (DCSS) is reviewing your case.

When a non-custodial parent is not paying their court-ordered child support in full and on time each month, actions can be taken prior to filing a court action. The following actions have been taken in efforts to collect the court ordered child support:

1. Issued an income withholding order to NONCUSTODIAL ATLAS TEST's employer to take child support out of NONCUSTODIAL ATLAS TEST's paycheck;
2. Issued a one time income withholding order if NONCUSTODIAL ATLAS TEST received a lump sum payment such as a personal injury settlement, insurance claim, inheritance or lottery winnings so money can be taken from the payment to pay child support;
3. Reported the past due support balance to a consumer credit reporting agency which could impact NONCUSTODIAL ATLAS TEST's ability to obtain credit;
4. Seized federal and/or state income tax refunds or other federal payments;
5. Placed a lien on any real or personal property in NONCUSTODIAL ATLAS TEST's name such as real estate, motor vehicles and bank accounts;
6. Increased the payments on arrears;
7. Sent a notice of the support debt to the U.S. Secretary of State which could affect NONCUSTODIAL ATLAS TEST's ability to get or renew a passport.

If the action taken on your case involves an enforcement hearing, the DCSS encourages you to arrange a telephonic hearing to participate in the initial hearing so you can have an opportunity to inform the court about the impact on your family as a result of not receiving court-ordered child support.

If you have any questions about this notice, please contact your local child support office.

Enclosed are two forms to help the DCSS determine the best course of action available to enforce your child support order. If you have not received any payments directly from the other parent, complete and return the Judicial Enforcement Review. If you received any payments directly from the other parent, please sign the Affidavit of Direct Support Payments. You can have the Affidavit notarized at the local child support office. Please return the forms to your local case manager, in person at your local office within thirty (30) days. Failure to respond may ultimately result in your case being closed or could prevent the DCSS from requesting a court hearing to enforce your order. If you are aware of any reason why the DCSS should not pursue a contempt against NONCUSTODIAL ATLAS TEST, please let us know.

If the action taken on your case involves an enforcement hearing, it is not required that you attend, the courts provide telephonic options for the hearing so you have the opportunity to inform the court about the impact on your family as a result of not receiving court-ordered child support.

If you have any questions about this notice, you may contact your local child support office.
